

January 2012

“I am a 72 year-old female. I went to a Seminar that was introducing a Stimulation System Implant-August 2009.

Dr. Jafri and associates explained and showed videos as to how this could benefit patients such as myself. I was having bladder difficulty passing urine. Interstim Therapy is the delivery of stimulation to my sacral nerve, a thin wire with protective coating that has metal electrodes on one end and a connector on the other.

It was a surgery I am very happy to have, with wonderful results. The patient programmer is set and I do not turn it off.”